

I.T. Credits

With Sirona Solutions I.T. Credits you have your very own IT department in bite-sized chunks. As a small business you may not need regular support, but knowing help is just a phone call away can let you concentrate on running your business.

Sirona Solutions

Computer problems cost small businesses thousands of pounds every year. Further time is then wasted trying to track down a reliable company to get you back up and running.

The I.T. Credits package from Sirona Solutions gives you immediate access to an experienced support team and gets you back to business as quickly as possible.

No matter what problem I'm having, Sirona takes care of it. I love the fact that they are a one-stop-shop for all things technical - Jenny Pearson, MD, Ollibella Ltd

Affordable Support in Bite-Sized Chunks

Often you may have to pay a minimum of one or two hours and even a call-out fee on top, I.T. Credits splits the support time down to 15 minutes blocks.

A Quick Solution to Simple Problems

Rather than spending time searching through Google or trying to track down the IT friend who might know the solution, I.T. Credits gives you instant access to our accredited support team to get your problems solved as quickly as possible.

Now You Know Who to Call

The most time consuming part of fixing any problem is finding a trust-worthy company who can respond right away. With I.T. Credits this problem is immediately solved with high-quality technology services that are never more than a phone call or an email away.

Remote Support for the Quickest Response

Most repairs are done remotely so no hanging around waiting for an engineer to turn up.

We always receive very rapid response to a phone call or email. Our computers have never worked better.
— Neil Fisher, MD, Space Comms

